Houghton Mifflin is pleased to announce the availability of four new professional development books entitled Essentials of Teaching Academic Writing, Essentials of Teaching Academic Reading, Essentials of Teaching Academic Oral Communication, and Essentials of Teaching Academic Vocabulary. The Essentials are available for purchase by individual teachers or programs. They provide theoretical and practical information for instructors teaching academic reading, writing, oral communication, and vocabulary. Written by experts in the field, Joy Reid, John Murphy, Sharon Seymour, Laura Walsh, and Averil Coxhead, developer of the Academic Word List, these brief, well-organized Essentials books provide instructors with highly focused help in developing their own knowledge and teaching skills.
